TALK OF ANNULLING EUROPE'S BILL ENDS

Senate's Amendment Meets Harding Demand Of Financing Bonds

Washington, Aug. 23.—Without a record vote, the Senate approved today the use of the interest on the foreign debt in financing the soldiers' bonus. Also it substituted the Smith-McNary $250,000,000 reclamation bill for the land settlement option in the House measure. Then it quit for the day with a final vote on the bonus measure at least one and perhaps two or three days distant.

The amendment authorizing the payment of the bonus charge with the interest on the eleven billions of dollars owed the United States by the allied nations was proposed by Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina. He and Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, and other members urged it as a means not only of meeting President Harding's requirement that the bill carry a means of financing but also of silencing the talk about the cancellation of the foreign debt.

A roll call on the proposal was demanded at first, but this demand was withdrawn presumably on the apprehension of leaders that a quorum could not be obtained at the then late hour. A vote was taken instead. Thirty-three Senators signifying their approval of the amendment and one, Senator New, Republican, Indiana, his disapproval.

The Smith-McNary reclamation amendment was agreed to by a vote of 43 to 36. Party lines disappeared on the roll call, twenty-three Republicans and twenty Democrats supporting the amendment and eighteen Republicans and eight Democrats opposing it.

The Smith-McNary amendment would provide for the reclamation of swamp lands in the South by drainage and arid lands in the West by irrigation, the work to be done under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior, with federal and state co-operation.

Veterans of the World War, the Spanish American War and the Philippine, insurrection would be given first opportunity to obtain homesteads and so on working on the various projects.

Opposition to the amendments was voiced by Senators McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, in charge of the bonus, and Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas. The charge was made that opponents of the bonus were supporting this proposition in the hope that it would furnish an added reason for the President to veto the bonus. Also it was contended that the reclamation project was important enough to stand on its own merits without, as Senator Lenroot expressed it, "being taken to court on the backs of the ex-service men."

Three Oppose Measure. Intervened with the debate on the reclamation feature was discussion of the bonus itself, with Senators Williams, Democrat, Mississippi; Watson, Democrat, Georgia, and Dial, Democrat, South Carolina, voicing opposition and others supporting the measure.

BASEBALL BRIEFS AND FOUL STRIKES

The McHenry Majestics and the Highland Athletic Club team, of Louisville, played a ragged game at Hiverside Park Saturday afternoon, resulting in the scores of 16 to 14 in favor of the Majestics. Parrot and Phelps composed the Majestics' battery.

The game staged Sunday by the above teams at the same place, was a much better affair, barring the first inning, a couple of errors and Monroe's free passes, it was a hum-dinger. Espy's circuit smash and catching of the Highlanders' backstop were outstanding features. The Majestics were 4 to 2 in favor of the up-state boys. Monroe did the twirling for the home team and Phelps the receiving. Failure to get hold of the records prevented our giving the batteries for the visitors.

Nocreek defeated Heflin, at Heflin, Saturday by 6-5 in a good game. Tinsley and C. Ward worked for the boys from where there isn't any creek, while Goadit and Russell did likewise for Heflin.

The Beavers journeyed to Island, Sunday, where they dropped the best game played during the season to the team of that place, the score being 1-0 in the Islanders' favor. The Beavers' pitcher, Jake Stevens, got 14 strike-outs, giving but three safe hits. Dossett received his slants, while Settle and Offlager worked at the pivots for the Island boys.

McHenry is ending a three game schedule at Morgantown tomorrow, and will have the Old Hillides of Louisville, at the local Hiverside Park Sunday, and at the Williams Mine park Monday for the labor day celebration.

Nocreek and Heflin will hook up Saturday, at Heflin.

Morgantown lost a good game to Bowling Green, at Bowling Green, Sunday, the scores ending 4-2. Lashley and Leach formed the Morgantown battery.

U. S. TAX RECEIPTS FALL OFF $46,000,000

Washington, August 28.—Government tax receipts fell off more than $46,000,000 in July as compared with the same month last year, according to the statement of classified collections issued today by the Internal Revenue Bureau. For the month tax collections totaled $106,886,779 as against $153,343,217 during July, 1921.

Income and profit taxes amounting to $29,743,000, during the month showed a decrease of $9,848,000 compared with July of last year, while estate taxes aggregating $4,071,000 declined by $10,276,000.

Taxes on distilled spirits aggregating $2,684,000 for the month declined by $2,811,000 against July, 1921; miscellaneous taxes, such as transportation and amusements, amounting to $43,443,000 fell off by $27,177,000, while tobacco taxes aggregating $26,980,000 reflected an increase of $3,772,000 as against the same month of last year.

SECOND EFFORT MADE TO WRECK PASSENGERS

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 28.—The second apparent attempt to wreck a passenger train in the Memphis district was reported today by a section crew which discovered eighteen spikes drawn from a rail on the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad near Capleville, a suburb, shortly before the fast Florida-California flyer was due to pass that point.

Saturday track inspectors found a rail loosened on the main line of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad a short distance from the city limits.

In each instance the damage was repaired in time for the trains to pass on scheduled time in safety. Departments of Justice agents, who are directing an investigation, are understood to have obtained information which is expected to result in several arrests.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company today announced a reward of $5,000 for the conviction of any person who tampered with the road's rails, tunnels, bridges or other road equipment and an additional $1,000 reward for persons caught tampering with engines in the yards.

LEACH-SANDEFUR SECRET MARRIAGE IS ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. (nee Martha A. Sandefur) Leach have recently announced their marriage, which took place in Jeffersonville, Indiana, June the eleventh, Nineteen hundred and twenty-two.

The young people had kept their marriage a secret from all but a very few, until announcements were received through the mails of last week, by their friends.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Sandefur and a popular young lady. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sep Leach and is one of Ohio County's successful teachers and admired by a large circle of friends. Each of the parties resided in the Hickory community.

The writer has known of the marriage since the first of August, although not at liberty to divulge the secret. We now extend our best wishes for the success of Mr. and Mrs. Leach.

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG

I wash my hands of A. Cox for all time to come. Albert was in Louisville last week. We had a nip at my favorite boot-legger's and started out to see the sights. Stopping in front of a West Broadway house, Cox said, "You wait here till I see a woman for a minute," and disappeared up a stairway. I leaned against a telephone post till weary I sat down on the curb, and waited some more. After waiting nearly an hour I went up and made inquiry about Cox, and the woman told me he had been gone half an hour. Whether the nip crossed Albert's eyes or he just decided to shake me I do not know, but I do know that I am done with him for all time. P. S.—I guess I ought to mention that Albert said he wanted to see the woman about renting or buying a rooming house.

I saw Itnddy McFeag leaning against a corner of the Seelbach last night, with a dowcast and woe-begone expression on his usually solemn face. Recalling an account in the morning paper of the marriage of Buddy's daughter, I said, "Cheer up, old man. I've gone through it three times, and know how hard it is to give them up, but you ought to be happy that she married a prosperous young banker instead of some worthless scamp, as so many young girls do." "Oh, it wasn't giving her up," he turned sadly. "I've got five more at home, but just to think she would go and marry a hawker when she had a chance to hitch up to a son of the biggest bootlegger in Louisville. But girls are such bloom'n' fools."

I know no positive objective evidence of the immortality of the soul, but I do know occasional sparks from Nature's anvil kindle in the hidden and mysterious regions of sentiment fires whose warmth and glow seem not of earth. I had one such experience late Sunday afternoon. From the deck of a river steamer I beheld one of those rare and beautiful sunsets that so please the eye and soothe the soul. Across miles of level valley, to the left the broad sweep of the Ohio river, to the right a line of broken and wooded hills, the sun, hanging just above the horizon and exposed by the lifted curtain of cloud, appeared a ball of molten fire. It was a feast of scenic beauty that falls but rarely to the lot of the city dweller, and a thousand merry excursionists watched with burning interest till the crimson curtain faded into twilight.

There is no beauty in the golden sunset, no majesty in the starry realms of the evening sky, no charm in the wooded hills, no melody in the bird's song, no grandeur in the towering mountain. Beauty, majesty, charm, melody and grandeur are only in the eyes, the ears, the souls of men. When rightly disposed ourselves all things are beautiful and lovely, when wrongly disposed all is ugly and disappointing.

Strongly as men cling to life, few of them would be willing to go back to the cradle and live it all over again, just as it was. Which fitsly shows that hope is the aspiration of the world. Each of us has had his harvest time of happiness and would gladly live such seasons over, but none would dare take again the sunshine with the storm. It is true that our best hopes are not always disappointed, but we get much we had not hoped for.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Miss Ethel Grieves Gives Word at Bridge Luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Grieves have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ethel Grieves to Mr. John J. Williams, of Wilmington, formerly of Leesdowne, Pa. The announcement came out Saturday at a Bridge Luncheon given by Miss Grieves to her circle of friends. There were three tables. When the hour arrived for refreshments the guests were invited to the dining room which was beautifully decorated with hearts and streamers festooned from every corner to the electroler. The favors were miniature suit cases filled with confetti, the case bearing the tag announcing the engagement. The wedding will take place some time in the early fall. The groom-elect is a Kentuckian and is employed by the Crow-Levick Oil Company.—(The Smyrna, Delaware Times, Aug. '16, 1922.)

Mr. Williams is a former Hartford boy, the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gross B. Williams. While he left here when quite young he is remembered by a majority of the Hartford people, amongst whom he has many friends to wish him well in marital life to which he is nearly approaching.

TH QUARTERLY MEETING AND REUNION FOR MT. HERMON

FORD PULLS ITSELF OFF BOAT INTO RIVER

John Bozarth Makes Narrow Escape As Car Plunges Into Water Of Depth.

Messrs. Rowan Holbrook and John Bozarth, city, were returning home from a point beyond Green River Wednesday night and upon approaching the river at Kacheloe's Bluff, were unable to arouse the Ferryman and proceeded to set themselves across the river. The landing on this side was reached, the boat moored, but when the front wheels of the car struck soft ground it stuck. Bozarth was doing the driving and when he turned on full power to shove thru the mud, the stake to which the boat was tied was pulled up by the back pressure upon the boat by the rear wheels. The boat was kicked out into the river some distance and the car turned somersault into water estimated all the way from 20 to 40 feet in depth. Bozarth grasped the situation and made his leap into the river barely in time to prevent his going down with the car. Mr. Holbrook was in the ferry boat, at the rear of the car when the diving act took place. The car will be raised as soon as it stops running.

ONLY 6 OF 322 ON STEAMER SURVIVE

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 29.—Only six persons, including two passengers, out of a total of 322 on board the Chilean steamship Itata were saved when the vessel sank today off the Chilean coast near Coquimbo. The steamer sailed yesterday from Coquimbo with 250 passengers aboard. Heavy cross-seas damaged the rudder of the vessel, which was overloaded.

In this helpless condition, and caught in the strong south gale, the steamer was swept time and again by the enormous waves. She listed badly and soon sank by her bow.

The Chilean warship, Chacabuco, which speeded to the rescue, found only scores of drowned floating on the ocean and remnants of wreckage. One boat carrying twenty persons capsized and seventeen perished.

Another boat with many passengers and sailors aboard, and in which Captain Caldera, who had been injured was placed, also capsized near the beach. Only two passengers and one sailor in this group escaped.

HOME OF JESSE JAMES ON WANE

Home No Longer Mecca For Souvenir Hunting Tourists.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 26.—Fame is fleeting even to a bandit.

Nor does the fact that he may have risen to the highest pinnacle in banditry's Hall of Fame save him from inevitable oblivion in popular interest.

At least no historical society has yet come forward to save the house, now rapidly falling into ruins, in which Jesse James, king of "bad men," met death at the hands of his betrayer, Bob Ford, on April 3, 1882.

For years the old house at 1318 Lafayette street was annually visited by hundreds of curious visitors, who stood with eyes and mouth open in wonder as the eloquent caretaker pointed to the hole in the east wall where the bullet from Ford's gun subdivided itself after snuffing out the life of the notorious outlaw.

Once Point of Interest.

There was a time and it has not been such a great while ago either, when everyone who had read "The James Boys in Missouri," and "Cap Carter" in their youth, wanted to see the Jesse James house when they came to St. Joseph. To go back and tell the folks they had not seen the old landmark would have been as much of a disgrace as to have gone to Philadelphia on a "rubber-necking" trip without looking up Independence Hall.

One was always sure of getting a vivid account of the killing from the old caretaker, who would even admit if pressed long enough, that he had witnessed the affair. After a harangue about the details of the shooting the visitors were shown the old, rusty Colt's horse pistols James had laid on the table while he stepped on a chair to hang a picture of Ford's wife.

Then followed the old, yellowed newspapers, which recounted the story of the shooting, several giving accounts showing the better side of the famous bank robber. After that the usual procedure was to sell the enraptured visitor a few curios, a piece of plaster from around the bullet hole, a piece of the picture frame, a ring of the chair, or some other bit of doubtful value, at a comparatively fancy price. If the lamplighter particularly unshorn, he was offered one of the pistols at an exorbitant figure, and the gag occasionally worked.

Indelible Relics.

The task of figuring how many relics have been sold from the chair, besides the other "original" curios sold again and again, offers a fine job to some bright young statistician. And yet the "original" chair is still there!

The room in the front part of the house is still kept for visitors. An old plush sofa stands against the west wall, right under the picture which was being hung by James when he was shot down by his old associate. In the center of the room is an old-fashioned center table on which rested a pink-globed kerosene lamp, and beside the lamp lay two guns, placed there by the bandit when he entered the house.

The house, an old frame building set among the trees on the top of a bank, still looks just as one would expect a bandit king's home to look. A few hundred yards to the south high bluffs loom, while all around the house the unpaved, little-traveled streets seem to recall the old stage coach routes. There are but one or two houses in plain view of the cottage, and these are far enough away to bear out the idea of seclusion.

Few Visitors Now.

But there are few visitors to the old Jesse James landmark now. The house has not been painted since the bandit was killed. Boards, bare and rotting, window lights out and a crumbling foundation are the only outward sign of a landmark that once lured its thousands. The few who do seek out the old place are no longer curious, take little interest in the relics still offered for sale and generally leave with a disappointed "humpf!"

Two years ago there was an agitation for preserving the old house for its historical value, but when the question came before the Buchanan County Historical Society that august body, believing the city had already had enough notoriety from Jesse James' residence here, flatly refused to take any action to save the ancient landmark on the grounds that the famous gunman was of no particular benefit to the reputation of the city or the state.

And thus is perishing one of Missouri's most famous landmarks. So, with Buffalo Bill and Cap Collier gone beyond the great divide, with the round-up being supervised now by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and with the Pony Express stables given over to a foundry one might well say: "Sic semper gloriae."

SAYS AIRPLANES WILL EXPEDITE POLAR TRIPS

London, Aug. 26.—Polar exploration will soon be revolutionized by the use of airplanes and aeroplanes, according to predictions made by Maj. H. Carr, air expert, who accompanied Shackleton on his South Polar expedition.

"Very few people realize how mild the Arctic and Antarctic summers really are," Major Carr says. "The airship of today is capable of doing a trip to the North Pole and back from London, a distance of approximately 4,580 miles, within a week. Fuel for the whole distance could be carried, and no landings need be made. This proves that before long we shall have Arctic and Antarctic exploration without the years of work and hardship."

Two hundred sixty-nine cows recently were tested in one month in Hopkins county as a part of the movement which is being carried on to eradicate bovine tuberculosis from herds in that section, according to County Agent Morris M. Gordon.

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in Michigan.

Mrs. A. H. Hall, Caseville, Mich., says, "I wish to thank you for your grand good medicine, Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. We are never without it in the house, and I am sure it saved our baby's life this summer."

Mrs. Mary Carrington, Caseville, Mich., says, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for years and it has always given prompt relief."

CHURCH ON WHEELS SPREADING GOSPEL

Chicago, Aug. 26.—A church on wheels—that is the latest religious innovation in this part of the country.

It is on exhibition at Wilmette, a suburb of Chicago. It is one of the three chapel cars of the Catholic Church Extension Society, of which the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Francis C. Kelley, of Chicago, is president.

Daily hundreds of Catholics and others visit the "church on wheels" and attend services.

The car, named the "St. Paul," is a combined church and rectory. Seating and kneeling accommodations are provided for fifty-four people; it has a permanent altar, a confessional, a library, a kitchen and quarters for the missionaries and attendants.

The Rev. E. J. McGuinness, L.L.D., is in charge of the car. It will remain at its present location for a week or two and will then be taken on a tour of the East to demonstrate to Eastern Catholics the work that has been done elsewhere. The "church on wheels" has had four years of continuous service in Texas and Louisiana, carrying the ministrations of the church to Catholics isolated in some cases hundreds of miles from a Catholic church.

Thousands of Catholics, who had been unable to hear mass in years, have been lured by the three-chapel cars now in operation. The other two are known as the "St. Anthony," and the "St. Peter." All are under the supervision of the Extension Society.

Almost limitless territory still awaits the visit of chapel car missionaries.

AIR PHOTOGRAPHERS ARE TO MAP ALASKA

Dormant Water Power To Be Sought
Out in Undiscovered Lakes North

Washington, Aug. 26.—Believing that the natural forests of Alaska abound with undiscovered lakes, many of which may be valuable waterpower sources, the Forestry Service of the Department of Agriculture is evolving plans to map this "No Man's Land" of the North by means of aerial photographs.

That there are many lakes on the headlands and islands traversed by the inside passage between Seattle and Skagway which do not appear on the map has long been known, an official of the Forestry Service said. During the New York-Nome flight made by army aviators, lakes frequently were sighted which could not be found on the latest and most authentic maps of the territory.

Tides of unknown water bodies are constantly being brought to the attention of the government by trappers and prospectors. Less than a year ago a lake four and a half miles long and a half a mile wide was discovered at the head of Short Bay. This lake, according to the Forestry Service, has more than 1,000 acres of surface area and is less than one and a quarter miles from tidewater; yet, because of the rough topography of the surrounding country, it has remained unknown and unnamed.

Officials arranging the plans for the locating and photographing of these "lost lakes" estimate that a few days' flight will be sufficient to cover the area with a degree of accuracy that would require many years and great expense to accomplish by ordinary methods.

This venture will mark the latest uses to which airplanes have been put. The work has been approved by the Federal Power Commission and will be done by seaplanes flying from Ketchikan as a base.

Officials assert this project will be the first step in penetrating the unknown sections of Alaska to enable the determination of just what potential wealth is contained in these hitherto impenetrable sections of a country believed to contain vast quantities of minerals, metals, waterpower and other sources of wealth.

TAKE STEPS TO ENLARGE STATE REFORMATORY

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 26.—Living conditions in the Kentucky state reformatory here are so bad that the State Board of Charities is faced by the immediate necessity of providing additional space for housing prisoners. It was stated here today at a meeting of the parole committee of the board. As a result the board is planning to utilize for living quarters a building now used for workshops.

The announcement of the plans being made by the board was made by Chairman E. S. Tachan, of the board; Judge Alex. M. Humphrey, member of the board and commissioner of public institutions; Joseph P. Byers.

There are now 990 white and 325 negro prisoners in the institution. There are 480 cells in the white section, and 648 in the negro section. The white cells are 4½x7½ feet, and the negro cells 3.10x7½ feet.

CHICAGO, August 25, 1922

TO THE SHOPMEN OF THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM:

Since the leaders of the railway shopcrafts ordered the members of their organizations to strike July 1 against decisions of the United States Railroad Labor Board, constant efforts have been made to find a basis for a just settlement. I believe you are familiar with these negotiations and the successful efforts to bring about a settlement which have been made by the Labor Board and individual members of the board, by members of the President's cabinet, by representatives of various organizations, and by the President himself.

The final conference in New York August 23 further demonstrated that the differences which exist are of such a fundamental nature that they cannot be composed. We of the Illinois Central System believe there is nothing to be gained by further negotiations on a question which admits of no compromise. Moreover, we believe the situation has been unfavorably affected by reports frequently sent out by leaders of the shopcrafts that a nation-wide settlement was about to be effected, and that it can serve no good purpose to continue to hold out these false hopes. While we are deeply interested in the general situation, we believe that we can accomplish a great deal more for that part of the public served by us, for our employees and for ourselves if we concentrate our future efforts largely upon the conditions on our own railway system.

No one regrets more than we the unfortunate situation of our former employees who gave up their positions upon orders from the leaders of their craft. On June 14, when the strike vote was being taken, we addressed a letter to all Illinois Central System shopmen in which we appealed to their better judgment and counseled them not to vote in favor of placing in the hands of their leaders the power to call a strike. We were of the opinion then that if they placed such a power in the hands of their leaders it would be unwisely exercised and a strike would be called, resulting in untold suffering and hardships to the strikers. We had the interests of our shopmen at heart and did not want to face the situation of having to fill their places. We appreciated that in any emergency which might arise the public welfare demanded that our trains be kept running.

On July 10, ten days after the strike had been called and some of our shopmen had complied with the orders of their leaders to desert their posts, we again addressed them. The public had to be served with transportation and, if our shopmen who left our service were not going to return to their positions, new men had to be employed to fill the vacancies. We did not want to employ new men until we were absolutely sure that those who went out would not return. It therefore became necessary for us to fix a time within which those who left their positions could return without loss of pension, seniority and other rights. We waited ten days for our former employees to make up their minds, hoping all the time that they would return, and after having waited that long we gave them another whole week within which they could return without loss of any of their rights.

Holding, as we do, that service to the public is our first and highest duty, we could no longer continue a waiting policy and thus run the risk of not being able adequately to take care of those depending upon this railway system for transportation service.

After having taken every precaution we could consistently take in behalf of the men who went out, we began employing new men. The men who took the places of those who left our service have courageously and efficiently assisted us in rendering to the public an unimpeded transportation service. We believe they are entitled to very great consideration, not only from us, but also from our patrons. We submit that no fair-minded person with a correct understanding of the situation would have us deal unfairly with these men.

There is no dispute about the right of workmen to leave their positions. Neither can there be any question about the right of others to take the places thus made vacant, nor the right of any man to work when and where he may wish. These rights are essential to civilization. The President of the United States has asserted that he will, if necessary, use the full power of the United States Government to sustain these rights. Neither can there be any question as to the attitude of the Illinois Central System toward labor organizations. We believe in the principles of organization, and we stand ready to work hand in hand with those organizations which will work with us in serving the public.

From the beginning of this controversy we have felt that the members of the shopcraft organizations were being misled, and it is a matter of deepest regret to us that we were not able to induce more of our shopmen to guard against ill-advised action. We believe that the vast majority of our employees in all departments, as well as the vast majority of our patrons, feel in their hearts that the Illinois Central System has dealt fairly by the striking shopmen. In addition to the letters which we addressed to them, reasoning with them and exhorting them to let their better judgment prevail, our efforts appealed to them personally, worked with them and did everything they honorably could do to induce them to vote against the proposed strike; to refuse to give up their positions after the strike had been called, and, finally, to return to the service in time to preserve their pension and seniority rights unimpaired.

We hold no feeling of resentment toward those of our former shopmen who, as a result of being misled, gave up their positions and the benefits and privileges which they formerly held. So long as vacancies exist, we shall give preference to those of our former shopmen who have not resorted to violence or damaged company property.

However, frankness compels us to make clear that the vacancies are being rapidly filled. Our mechanical forces are largely depleted at only one of the main shop plants on the Illinois Central System. At all of our other shops our mechanical forces range all the way from substantial forces to more than 200 per cent of normal. This disparity has made it necessary for us to transfer some of our work from the shops having the smallest forces to those having the largest. The total number of men employed in the mechanical department of the Illinois Central System on June 30, the day before the strike, was 12,507. On August 24, after almost two months of the strike, there were 12,653 employees in the mechanical department, of whom a very large percentage were old employees who remained faithful by refusing to strike. Therefore, on August 24, we had only 854 fewer employees in the mechanical department than on the day before the strike.

On July 3, the Labor Board, by resolution, called for the formation of new organizations to take the places of those which had refused to abide by the decisions of the board. The following is quoted from that resolution:

Whereas, in the future submission of disputes involving rules, wages and grievances of said classes of employees of the carriers it will be desirable, if not a practical necessity for the employees of each class on each to form some sort of an association or organization to function in the representation of said employees before the Railroad Labor Board in order that the effectiveness of the Transportation Act may be maintained.

Now, therefore, be it resolved that it be communicated to carriers and the employees remaining in the service and the new employees succeeding those who have left the service, to take steps as soon as practicable to perfect on each carrier such organizations as may be deemed necessary for the purpose above mentioned, and

Be it further resolved that if it be assumed that the employees who leave the service of the carriers because of their dissatisfaction with any decision of the Labor Board are within their rights in so doing it must likewise be conceded that the men who remain in the service and those who enter it anew are within their right in accepting such employment—that they are not strikebreakers, seeking to impose the arbitrary will of an employer on employees—that they have the moral as well as the legal right to engage in such service of the American public to avoid interruption of indispensable railroad transportation and that they are entitled to the protection of every department and branch of the Government, state and national.

In response to the resolution of the Labor Board, the employees of the mechanical department of the Illinois Central System have perfect their own organization, as follows:

Association of Machinists, Helpers and Apprentices,
Association of Boiler-makers, Helpers and Apprentices,
Association of Blacksmiths, Helpers and Apprentices,
Association of Sheet Metal Workers, Helpers and Apprentices, Association of Painters, Helpers and Apprentices, Association of Electricians, Helpers and Apprentices.

For foregoing organizations furnish the machinery through which representatives of the employees may at any time obtain conferences with representatives of the management. In case differences arise which cannot be composed, the way is always open for an appeal to the Labor Board. The feeling among the employees of our mechanical department in regard to the desirability of these organizations is evidenced by the fact that only 185 failed to join them.

In closing this communication, we desire to avail ourselves of the opportunity to extend the sincere thanks of the management to those shopmen who have remained loyal and faithful in the crisis through which we have been passing and have helped us to discharge our obligation to the public.

GREEN OLIVE PEPPER CORN

Corn sautéed with green peppers and olives is a delicious dish that may be prepared in a few minutes. Once tried it will be repeated frequently each year when corn on the cob is obtainable. Here is an excellent recipe:

Ingredients: Six ears sweet corn (uncooked); one-fourth teaspoon salt; one-eighth teaspoon paprika; one green sweet pepper; one cup chopped Spanish green olives; two tablespoonsful butter.

Cut corn from cob. Remove seeds and white fibre from the sweet pepper. Cut the pepper into fine strips and cook five minutes in the butter. Add the corn and cook for ten to fifteen minutes, stirring to prevent burning. Add the salt, paprika and green olives. Serve.

A Triumph for Value

IN the past two months Firestone has built and marketed more tires than in any similar period in its history.

This steadily increasing public preference is proof of the recognition by car owners of the greater values offered by Firestone. It is a tribute to Firestone men—all stockholders in the company—all actuated by the operating principle of Most Miles per Dollar.

The high average performance of Firestone Cords is without equal in the annals of tire making and is reflected by the general tendency to specify Firestone for hard service. Taxicab and bus lines, buying tires by the mile, are universally equipping with Firestone Cords.

There are many reasons for the high quality of Firestone tires but chief among the special manufacturing processes are double gum-dipping, thus eliminating internal friction by insulating each cord strand, and air-bag cure, insuring a well-balanced and perfectly shaped product.

Don't speculate in tires—you will find the right combination of price and quality in Firestone. Come in and let us tell you about the service these Cords are giving other car-owners whom you know.

GIGANTIC OCEAN PLANE FORECAST

Trans-Atlantic Schedule on 24-Hour Basis Is Predicted by Dutch Aviator.

London, Aug. 25.—"The airplane of the future will be at once the most ghastly and sublime machine ever created by the hand of man."

This is the statement of M. Anthony Fokker, the celebrated Dutch airplane inventor, who is now in England, securing designs and plans which he will use in his work in furthering military and commercial aviation in the United States.

Airplane services crossing the Atlantic five or six times a day and airplanes capable of destroying entire cities in a few hours, are the predictions which Fokker makes.

Depends on Motor.

"The airplane of the future depends almost entirely on motor and fuel development," Fokker says. "If this continues at the same rate of progress we shall very shortly have completely noiseless machines racing every twenty minutes as regularly as the modern train service in all directions."

"The actual size and speed of the machines will not increase so enormously as the numbers employed. Some 120 miles per hour, with a range of several hundreds of miles, will be the standard model for commercial purposes during the next ten years."

"Passenger machines will not, in the immediate future, hold more than twenty or thirty passengers, and bombing airplanes will be unable to carry much more than 15,000 pounds weight of explosives.

"Freight machines will, of course, be kept as distinct from passenger machines as are goods trains and expresses de luxe on a railway line.

To Rival Ocean Liners.

"In twenty years' time the Atlantic will be bridged by an air service running five or six times a day. In fifty years' time I prophesy that the machines will contain all the comforts and distractions of a big ocean liner.

"Palm courts and orchestras, dance floors and dining rooms, card rooms and lounges, all will be there. The journey will take twenty-four hours."

"The war was far too short to develop aircraft."

"The next war will see the utter impotence of the battleship. The normal procedure of attack from the air will not be direct. The weakest part of a battleship is its bottom. That is where it will be attacked. Depth charge bombs will be released on either side of the doomed ship."

"Condenser system, pipe system, tanks and all will be wrecked by a couple of 5,000-pound bombs, while a third bomb will rip the bottom clean out. I should hate to be in the navy for the next war."

"The airplane of the future will indeed be at once the most ghastly and sublime machine ever created by the hand of man."

Just What She Needed.

"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets some time ago, and they proved to be just what I needed," writes Mrs. Volta Bankson, Chillicothe, Mo. "They not only relieved me of indigestion, but toned up my liver and rid me of backache and dizziness that I had been subject to for some time. They did me a world of good and I will always speak a good word for them."

COLOR GRADES FOR EXTRACTED HONEY TO BE ESTABLISHED

Samples of honey are being received by the United States Department of Agriculture from beekeepers in all parts of the country in connection with the work of establishing reliable color grades for extracted honey. A new type of spectrophotometer will be used in this work, which will be done by agriculturists of the department in cooperation with the Division of Grades and Standards of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. It is also planned to use the honey examined in other investigations. The pollen content of the honeys will be identified by the microchemical laboratory of the Bureau of Chemistry.

MO. BIDS FAREWELL TO TELEPHONE MULES

Faithful Animals Put Up Losing Fight Against Motorized Vehicles.

A bit of telephone history was recorded the other day when the superintendent of buildings and supplies of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company attached his signature to an order for the sale of a team of mules.

Time was when St. Louis stables of the company were the home of 138 of the proverbially cantankerous but highly efficient animals. The two mules in question were the last of the lot. Missouri—traditional domain of the mule and connected with its history as an economic factor by ties that are far more intimate than that of mere alliteration—has seen its last telephone mule team.

A telephone system operated efficiently and economically implies the efficient and economical construction and maintenance of its widely distributed plant. The passing of Missouri's last telephone mule team affords a striking illustration of the progress which is being made thruout the Bell Telephone System is constantly improving its service standards.

Before the march of motorization the telephone mule has given ground, even as the redskin and the buffalo have receded before the steady advance of the white settler. Missouri and many other western states, as well as practically the entire east, are to a large extent motorized as far as the Bell System is concerned.

Seven thousand eight hundred cars of various descriptions—enough to provide a transport division for a very fair army expeditionary force—are in use throughout the associated companies of the system. Some 5,000 of these belong to the Ford family, with modifications as to type to adapt each variety to the specific use to which it is to be put. The major part of this fleet is classified under the heading of commercial cars being mainly made up of cars of the light delivery type, used in construction or repair work. Even the runabouts used by plant department supervisors in covering their territory are equipped with a box in the rear of the seat for carrying tools and light materials used in repair work. As a matter of fact there are only a few hundred cars in the entire system which are used exclusively for passenger work, these being assigned to supervisory forces for use in inspection or other work necessitating covering a large territory.

From this "mosquito fleet" of light cars the motor equipment of the system runs up thru trucks of various grades, many of which are equipped with the most modern construction or repair apparatus. The 2,500 trucks owned by the system range from three-quarter ton machines to fifteen-ton giants used in hauling heavy loads of cable and other materials.

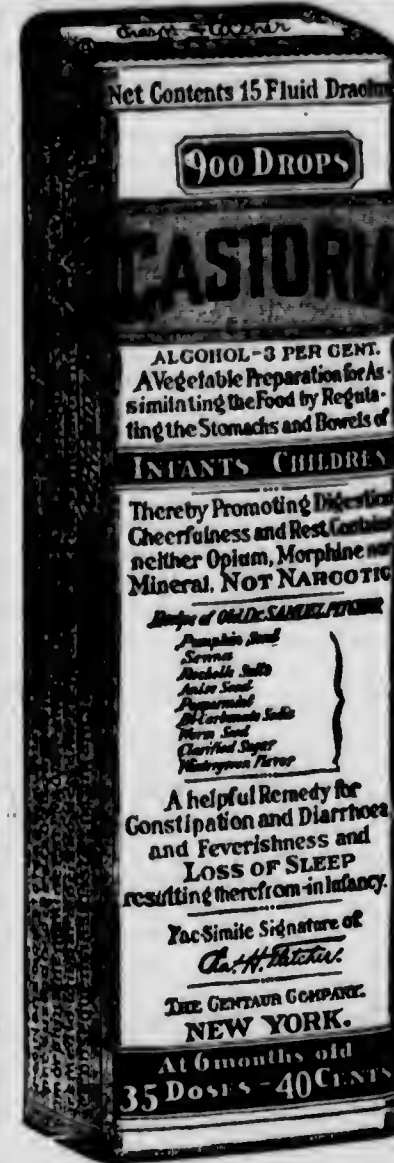

The motorization of the telephone system began in earnest only about six or eight years ago, after a few automobiles and trucks had been introduced experimentally as a supplement to vehicle drawn by horses or mules. The motor vehicle has conclusively proved its value, not only from the standpoint of economy but from that of enabling construction and maintenance gangs to do their work more quickly and with less individual effort. This has been particularly true of the larger trucks carrying winches, derricks and associated equipment, with power supplied by the engine of the machine itself, which have literally revolutionized the work of handling poles, cables and other heavy material. In fact, the truck engine is being made to do practically all types of heavy work which were formerly done by the workmen themselves.—Telephone Press.

Despondency.

Sufferers from indigestion are apt to become discouraged and feel that complete recovery is not to be hoped for. No one could make a greater mistake. Hundreds have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and can now eat anything that they crave. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you have not tried them do so at once.

BEER KEG CORK POPS MAN IN EYE; HE SEES

Akron, O., Aug. 26.—An "unsuitable cork," which popped from a keg full of temperance drink known as "cream beer," is responsible for the suit for $50,950 alleged damages filed by Jacob Burger against the Renner Products Company.

Declaring that the company failed to tip him off that the keg of beer would generate a "kick," or gas, Burger told the court that he had twelve weeks of his time, the sight of his right eye and 25 per cent of the vision of his other eye.

Burger stated that when he bought the temperance drink the company gave him something to put into the keg "to make the beer suitable to the trade."

The cork, designated by Burger as "unsuitable" hit him in the right eye.

FRIDAY.....SEPTEMBER 1

Ex-Governor and ex-candidate, James M. Cox seems to have been running for President of the U. S. A., while touring in Germany.

Sweden has just had a Volstead election and remains wet. We don't remember whether Pussyfoot Johnson perambulated through the land of the Swedes or not.

That Dan Volstead built is still holding in Johnstown, notwithstanding the City's Mayor issued a permit for its flooding by beer of old fashioned contents.

If some fool woman don't want to do some trading she had better not offer some of these Hartford women a hundred dollars per month for the things generally known as husbands.

Maybe when Henry Ford closes his Lizzie plants on September 15, he can find time in which to return to the Government all of those war-time profits as he promised he would,
and which reports say he has thus far overlooked.

It may be according to form, good taste and ethics for a lady eligible and possessing a marriageable turn of mind to wear a green ribbon as outward evidence of the fact, but it looks a bit like going on the market, on the block, so to speak. Perhaps we are of the class known as "old foggy" and don't see it in the right light.

The Courier-Journal never fails or refuses an opportunity to cast belittling petty slurs at President Harding. In Tuesday's editorial columns the Courier undertook to make a correction of a former article wherein Secretary Hoover was alleged to have been misquoted and went a long way round in order to get in its little "stuff" on Harding.

Too many of us are ever too ready to pass critical judgment upon our neighbors, acquaintances and those whom we know only by reports heard and read. We know of no class exempt from this, our criticism.
There is a vast difference between analyzed or constructive criticism or judgment if it sounds more pleasant, and mere critical criticism for the sole purpose of picking to pieces the foundation upon which the criticized seeks to stand. If the character of criticism be of that, and offered in the spirit we have in mind, the sharp tongued critic only drives the criticized to cling closer to his position, this is especially true if judgment be passed in a matter of politics or religion and not infrequently is this true if the criticism be of one's morals. The man or woman who fails to strike back, who fails to resent and rebel when criticized by one whom he regards as simply a meddler, in a spirit distasteful and with motives not apparently for his good, but to belittle him and make his position or acts seem untenable, is not worth redeeming and of but little account to the community.
We recently heard a man, a preacher, refer to a certain collection of other individuals none of whom happen to belong to his particular sect or creed, as a bunch of hypocrites, not because they do not see things as he does, and did not do certain things he wished that they do. That criticism was not of the constructive variety.
It seems to us that it may have been offered in a spirit wholly contrary to the injunction, to judge not etc.
As a matter of fact we do not believe that the average, intelligent human mind is capable of withholding judgment, but it need not be for the purpose of hurting the other fellow's feelings. If honest efforts were always made criticism could be offered without leaving a gaping wound, the scar from which rarely ever is effaced. Convince the subject that your earnest desire is to help, go to him clothed in the right character of gamb and you, from the first, have him in the proper frame of mind to accept criticism that will be weighed and pondered over and in the great majority of cases appropriated for what it may be deemed worth, provided the criticism is worth your honest effort. In no other way can you reach your man. If we could forever rid ourselves of the spirit of intolerance and self exaltation and the insatiable desire to outshine the "common herd" there would be a lot less of the criticism we would criticize.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

We wouldn't give any more for Bill Hohenzollern's autobiography than we would for I. D. Claire's biography of Battle Nall.

Hob Walker gained five pounds in weight, in three days after the Association at Beaver Dam.

Meditation and planning go hand-in-hand with success. Hesitation is as taking the sliding while opportunity speeds by on the main line.

If we have to do without coal next winter we are consoled by the thought that we won't have to be pestered with flies and mosquitoes.

Tom Sims says "There is no vacation for a man who likes to fish."
And we'll be dadgummed if we don't believe he's right, fishin's our long suit, or would be if we could get to it.

We saw a fellow carrying home a german carp one day recently that he hought from a fisherman who was selling buffalo fish. Sometimes one gets buffaloed when he least thinks of it. Most generally that's when it happens.

After Joe Wilson got his player-piano in, greased up and everything, he turned the juke on and in less than two hours we got three telephone calls from people wanting to know what kind of carnival we had started in our end of the burg.

Doc Riley has moved his "Lizzle" to a new parking district. He spots her along side of Joe Wilson's place across and up the Alley. And, to be truthful about the matter we confess to our lonesomeness since Doc has moved his stopping and starting place, although we don't have to use the radio to hear her commence.

Later—He has moved it back again.

We had a surprise birthday dinner Monday, as a general proposition we have been living on beans, corn, tomatoes, buttermilk and bread, and for the birthday event our wife changed the order of menu, making it bread, buttermilk, tomatoes, corn and beans. Besides our wife and ourselves no others were present. Even our one lodger dined out on that day, both noon and evening.

Roel Riley, Louie Fulkerson and Mack Fogle, who attended the Ky.
Bankers' convention at West Baden, Ind., arrived one afternoon and left the next morning. They were rounded up and were present at the fight to the finish, of a vicious badger and bulldog, their first and only night in the "Hoosier" city. Too much rough stuff" they said, for three such unsophisticated youths as they claim to be, hence they beat it for home at the break of day the first morning after a big night out.

We sure did think lots of I. D.
Claire's defense of Bat Nall in his last week's communication. He jumped on Old Doc Williams for exposing some of Bat's escapades in the long, long ago, and at the same time with apparent malice confessed that he would not print that biography of Battle because it was too largely made up of just such incidents as Doc mentioned. We like Bat, he uses our telephone the year round, drinks our ice water thru the summer and warms by our fire during the chilly winds of every winter. We demand that I. D. C. offer due apology to Bat.

Job Printing.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF

Hartford Graded and High School

For 1922-23

Hartford Graded and High School Will Begin Work

Monday, September 4

The usual opening exercises will be held in the school auditorium at 8:30 in the morning. All patrons and friends of the school are urged to be present.
A large attendance is expected and the outlook is very promising for a splendid year's work.

The grade teachers are the same as last year, Miss Taylor and Miss Moore having spent the summer at the Western Kentucky State Normal.

The Truancy Law

will be rigidly enforced throughout the year, making it necessary for all children between seven and fourteen to attend regularly. On account of crowded conditions no children under the school age will be received. Children outside the Graded School District will be received on payment of regular tuition.

The High School Faculty

will be the same as last year, with the addition of a Vocational Domestic Science teacher, Mrs. Gertrude Wallingford Heavrin, a graduate of the University of Kentucky. Five teachers will be employed in High School work, offering three courses, Vocational Agriculture, Vocational Domestic Science and Classical. Three teachers will give their time to the classical work.

THE H. H. S. WIZARD

will be continued with Mr. Hulbert Crowder, Senior, Editor-in-Chief.

THE WATER SYSTEM is being overhauled and an ample supply of water is assured.

J. H. B. CARSON, Chairman,
C. O. HUNTER, Secretary.

THE FLORSHEIM SHOE

THE HAMPTON

A fine Florsheim that is worn by a great many men for its slim, trim shape. It is roomy yet looks narrow. Made of soft, velvety calfskin. Good to look at and easy to wear.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Grayson county farmers have ordered 200 bushels of Ashland wheat, the new pedigreed and high-yielding variety developed at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, which will be used in tests to determine whether or not the new variety is better adapted to the county than those already being grown. County Agent R. W. Searce says. Ashland wheat has never been grown in the county before.

The work of eradicating tuberculosis from herds of cattle in Boyd county is going forward in a steady manner, according to County Agent L. M. Amburg. Herds are being tested frequently and many farmers are on the waiting list to have their animals examined as soon as possible.

Campbell county farmers who used nitrate of soda on their fruit trees this last spring are obtaining marked increases in the yield from their trees, County Agent, H. F. Link says. The use of this material has improved both the quality and quantity of fruit with the result that many farmers and fruit growers in the county are planning to give it a trial on their farms.

A total of 98 Breckinridge county farmers and poultry raisers have been taught the method of separating the loafer and laying hens in their flocks by means of eight poultry culling demonstrations recently held in the county by County Agent R. M. Greene and the extension division of the College of Agriculture at Lexington.

Miniature Bridge to Aid Engineers Solve Problems.

A model of a reinforced concrete arch bridge 7 feet long has been constructed by the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, to determine just how masonry arch bridges should be designed when built on a skew. A skew bridge is one in which the roadway is not perpendicular to the abutments, as when a bridge crosses a stream diagonally.

It has been found that the stresses in a skewed bridge are considerably different from those in a bridge of the same span built perpendicular to the abutments, and failures have occurred because this was not taken into account in the design.

The problem is so complicated that engineers of the bureau wish to check up their theoretical conclusions by making a faithful reproduction of a bridge, using similar materials and of such size that it can be tested in the laboratory.

Loads will be applied to the model and the stresses at various places calculated from measurements of the lengthening and shortening of the concrete surface taken with very precise instruments as well as by other methods.

I. C. C. Allows Lower Rate On Road-Building Material.

In the shipment of surplus war materials transferred to them by the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, State highway departments will be saved a great deal of expense as a result of a ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission permitting the shipment of this material as 'contractor's equipment,' thereby giving it the advantage of a low rate.

The railroads previously required the States to pay less than carload rates on the various items included in such shipments, even when together they made up a carload. The contention of the bureau is that since the bulk of this material has been used and none of it is new, and since it is all intended for use in road construction, it should be given the advantage of the low rate allowed to contractor's equipment. This contention, which was opposed by the railroads, was upheld by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The rate is now applicable to some 1,200 carloads to be shipped from Camp Grant, Ill., and large quantities from other points. On a carload shipment from Schenectady, N. Y., to Boise, Idaho, $720 recently was saved, and $500 on another from San Antonio, Tex., to Salem, Oreg.

18 Counties Send Club Boys And Girls to Summer Course.

One of the most effective summer short courses for boys and girls this season was the regular annual school held at the Oregon Agricultural College, at Corvallis, Oreg., from June 12 to 24. Eighteen counties were represented by 231 club members, some of whom traveled several hundred miles to reach the college. These boys and girls were the prize winners at the State fair and delegates from the different standard clubs over the State. The largest county delegation was a group of 48 boys and girls from Multnomah County, including Portland. Klamath County sent 41 club members in automobiles and automobiles, traveling 320 miles. The group of 16 coming from Malheur County in three automobiles traveled between 400 and 500 miles.

The short course classroom work was given each morning, followed by assemblies with addresses by distinguished visitors, gymnasium and out-door athletics, and special entertainment features. The training of local leaders in club work and of demonstration teams was featured.

Surprise Contests Improve Quality Of Milk Delivered.

Surprise milk contests—contests in which the milk sold by various dealers in a city is compared by taking samples occasionally without warning—have been very effective in improving the milk supply of many cities. Contests of this kind carried out with the assistance of the United States Department of Agriculture have shown remarkable results in a number of western cities. The bacterial counts and the total milk scores for the cities were made up from the results of tests of samples from each of the delivery systems.

In Long Beach, Calif., the average bacterial count in the first contest was 118,238; in the last contest it was down to 11,823. In the first the average score of the milk sold there was 71.56 and in the last it was up to 90.67. The milk sold in Riverside, Calif., improved in bacterial count from 101,500 to 8,522, and rose in score from 82.92 to 93.63. Los Angeles dealers, as a result of these surprise contests, made great improvement in the quality of the milk supply, bringing down the count from 84,169 to 12,690 and raising the score from 80.60 to 91.65. The figures for Portland, Oreg., changed from 148,490 to 13,970 and from 76.19 to 92.42. The number of bacteria in a cubic centimeter of Seattle milk was brought from 64,124 down to 31,297, and the score was lifted from 80.50 to 88.24.

A milk dealer does not like to be surprised with dirty milk on his wagons, especially when the results of the tests are to be published in the local papers. When his score goes up he finds the number of his customers going up; when the bacterial count increases he finds an increase in the number of ex-customers.

Ohio heads the list of States taking part in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign being carried on by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the States to induce farmers to get rid of all sires except those that are pure bred. In the 3 months ending July 1, 954 live-stock owners enrolling 537 were Ohioans, bringing that State into the lead in number of farmers having Federal-State certificates, in number of animals and in number of poultry listed. The total of persons in Ohio enrolled is now 1,970. They own 75,025 head of all kinds of farm animals and 185,595 poultry. Virginia is now second after having been in the lead since the campaign for pure-bred sires started in 1919.

Farmers Take up Terracing To Save and Rebuild their Soil.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 22—Terracing of farm lands promises to fill an important place in preventing further soil erosion on Kentucky farms and rebuilding many of the 2,500,000 acres in the States that already are badly washed and gullied, according to Earl G. Welch, farm engineering specialist of the College of Agriculture. Demonstrations to show farmers how to terrace the rolling fields on their farms already have been held in Crittenden, Hopkins, Hart, Whitley and Powell counties while additional ones are scheduled for 17 other counties. One farmer in Hopkins county pointed out to members of the college engineering section that the demonstration conducted on his farm gave him a method of saving soil for which he had been looking 15 years. Counties in which demonstrations will be held in the near future include Carroll, Marion, Washington, Warren, Todd, Laramie, Laurel, Lee, Boone, Breckinridge, Henderson, McLean, Christian, Boyd, Calloway, Knox and Oldham.

Terracing has an almost statewide appeal in view of the fact that practically the entire surface of Kentucky is rolling and subject to serious damage thru soil washing. Whether or not terracing is advisable depends upon the type of soil and the extent to which the land is rolling. In some counties, it may be advisable that all the rolling farm lands be terraced.

The cost of terracing, in so far as the farmer's time and use of horse labor is concerned, does not amount to more than $1 or $1.50 an acre while no special engineering training is needed to lay out a terracing system. In planning a system, the tools needed include a level, measuring line and stakes while the construction requires only a turning plow, terrace drag or road grader. Details of terracing are contained in Circular No. 129 which may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station at Lexington.

The natives of the island of Guam are learning that there is a better way of keeping their pigs at home than the common practice of tying them to a tree or stake by a short rope fastened about the foreleg, according to reports to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A pen of bamboo, which will accommodate one sow and litter, or three or four growing pigs, and may be moved frequently has been introduced by the local Federal experiment station and is gradually supplanting the tying method on the island.

No Protection from Toxins Given By Canning Powders.

Canning powders can not be depended on for safety from food poisoning, according to the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture. Extensive experiments recently conducted to test the claims made by certain widely advertised and distributed canning powders, which consisted mainly of 95 per cent boric acid, with 5 per cent of salt added, have shown conclusively that the antiseptic properties of the powder only affect a few molds and microorganisms which are not responsible for spoilage in properly processed cans or jars.

Fruits and other acid products properly packed when fresh and in good condition keep without any canning preparations. Much larger amounts of canning powder than those recommended on the package had no effect whatever on the growth of spore-forming bacilli, which do not require free oxygen for growth, particularly the toxin forming Bacillus botulinus, which has recently been responsible for many deaths.

Clothing Kits Aid Clubs In Sewing Demonstrations.

An unusual feature of the clothing work in Kansas, carried on by extension workers during the past year, as reported to the United States Department of Agriculture, was the sending of sets of clothing kits to the girls' clubs in the various counties.

Each kit contained a sample patch, a sample darn, an iron holder, two aprons, a sewing bag, a laundry bag, a nightgown, an undershirt, a princess slip, a combination suit, a smock, a dresser scarf, a child's dress, rompers, charts showing appropriate school dresses, and hooks of samples illustrating appropriate materials to select for the different articles. The kits were sent to the county extension agents, who in turn were responsible for getting them to the clubs. Except for four clubs in three counties which received no kits, every club in the State had an opportunity to examine these articles, to obtain patterns for the garments that appealed to them, and to gain better ideas on appropriate clothing for home and school use.

Beaver Culture A Means of Fur and Forest Production.

Although the practicability of beaver farming has not been fully demonstrated, the United States Department of Agriculture believes that the business of raising beavers for their fur may develop, under proper control measures, into a profitable branch of fur farming. With a small beginning the enterprise seems to promise an advance to good returns and even great possibilities.

A fertile field for beaver culture may be found in connection with projects for the reforestation with conifers of burned or cut-over timberlands. Many of these areas, cleared by ax or fire and later covered with a second growth of aspen, willow, and pin cherry, are for the time considered almost worthless. Over much of the northern border of the United States and still larger areas of Canada where such land is found it is generally unsuited for agriculture and would not pay taxes until again covered by valuable forest timber, but would supply ideal food for beavers, and if stocked with them could be made to yield an income while the process of reforestation is going on.

The animals should not be introduced uncontrolled into places where their activities may menace irrigation or power ditches, important road or railroad grades, or agricultural districts. A suitable food supply and permanent water should be assured.

Weather Conditions Versus Railroad Transportation.

Railroading has important weather problems to contend with, and its people must call on the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture for continuous and reliable information as to conditions prevailing in various parts of the country in order to take adequate precautions to protect its passengers and freight from injury, damage, loss of time, or other inconveniences.

Temperature extremes affect all steel and iron work, such as rails or car wheels. Warnings of very cold or very hot weather indicate that arrangements must be made to keep them in good running order by replacements or repairs. Snow is regarded as the great enemy of rail transportation, and information furnished by the snow reports of the Weather Bureau helps to forewarn the railroads as to districts where windbreaks or snowsheds should be erected or snowplows made ready. Heavy rains bring about floods which wash away bridges, undermine roadbeds, and cause landslides. Not all of these disasters can be averted, but when predictions can be made in time steps may be taken to lessen the damage by strengthening critical points.

Ice storms and thunderstorms often put electrified lines out of order. High winds will sometimes derail trains. Snow and sand, impelled by strong winds, often pile upon the tracks and delay transportation. Heavy rainfall produces luxuriant vegetation, which is a great nuisance on earth-balanced roads, while any excessive moisture shortens the life of ties and other woodwork.

Weather affects not only the railroad tracks and rolling stock but also the goods transported. This is especially true of perishable foods. In addition to precooling and icing stations which are maintained, refrigerator and heater cars are used, and a close watch kept on Weather Bureau announcements in the districts where perishables must be moved.

America's Ex-Service Men Best Treated of Any in World

Republican Administration Spends More for World War Veterans Than for Any Item Except the Public Debt.

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE CARL W. HUDDICK
(MONTANA), MEMBER HOUSE COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURE

In November, 1918, the people elected a Republican Congress. The first session of this newly elected Republican Congress began May 19, 1919. With it began practically all Federal aid for relief and assistance of those who served in the World War. An elaborate program was formulated providing for hospital and medical aid for all disabled and diseased ex-service men. The program included those suffering from mental diseases as a result of their war experience; also vocational training and rehabilitation; also financial allotments for those engaged in such training; also compensation for men totally or partially disabled, and for their dependents; and for the dependents of those who died as a result of injury or disease contracted while in the service of their country.

There was expended to July 1, 1922, for the purposes of carrying out this program the sum of $1,435,554,385. In addition an appropriation of $423,038,842, has just been made by the Congress for the Veterans' Bureau for the coming fiscal year. This is a greater appropriation than made for any other purpose except in payment of the public debt.

Following the war the administration of relief for ex-service men was divided among several bureaus and this necessitated tremendous overhead expense, eating up a disproportionate amount of money appropriated for aid of World War veterans, and it occasioned endless delay in handling ex-service men's cases and put them to unfair expense. To remedy these evils the Republican Congress passed a measure, combining all agencies dealing with ex-service men under the Veterans' Bureau.

Following the war, hundreds of thousands of veterans perished their insurance to lapse, largely because of the slipshod manner in which their claims were handled under the Democratic administration. At the request of representatives of the ex-service men the Republican Congress made it possible for all ex-service men whose policies had lapsed to be reinstated at any time prior to March 4, 1926.

The hospitalization and medical treatment of ex-service men was found to be unsatisfactory and Congress transferred 99 hospitals to use of the Veterans' Bureau. The number of beds in these hospitals taken over by the Veterans' Bureau is in excess of 23,000.

There were many ex-service men living in remote sections of the country who were not aware of the benefits they could receive and should be receiving from the government under the Veterans' Bureau. In order that no worthy ex-service man entitled to benefits of any kind might be neglected, the Veterans' Bureau conducted a drive in which over 175,000 ex-service men were interviewed and 119,000 new claims were filed and handled as a result.

As a result of this tremendous program of Federal aid to ex-service men, all of which has been put into effect by the Republican Party and the money for which has been appropriated by a Republican Congress, the following summarization may be given:

(1) Over 240,000 ex-service men have received hospital treatment; 30,000 ex-service men are now receiving treatment in hospitals; over 1,000,000 ex-service men have been called for examination in order to ascertain if they should receive hospital or medical treatment.

(2) Over 150,000 ex-service men have entered vocational training and 150,000 more have been declared eligible for vocational training.

(3) Compensation for disabled ex-service men or their dependents is being paid out at a rate in excess of $1,000,000 in cash every day, including Sundays.

(4) Over 50,000 medical examinations are being made free every month in order to ascertain the physical and mental treatments needed by afflicted ex-service men.

(5) Over 1,000 new claims are being handled every day by the Veterans' Bureau and all work in that bureau is practically current and being conducted at a minimum loss of time and a minimum expense both to the government and to the ex-service man concerned.

(6) An insurance business for over 600,000 ex-service men is being conducted by the government, without any cost of administration to ex-service men, at premium rates far below those private companies charge for like policies.

"Jamaica has become Uncle Sam's Caribbean policeman," is a slogan much in vogue here now, and the government does not deny that the legislation is an attempt to prevent liquor smuggling into the United States. The new legislation is bitterly resented, particularly by seamen on the large number of ships engaged in the banana trade between Jamaica and eastern American ports. Liquor by the hundreds of bottles was taken up weekly on many of these ships, as there was no legislation to prevent sailors purchasing liquor and taking it on board with them. Now they cannot do this unless they first pay a heavy excise tax.

JAPAN IS PRUSSIA OF THE EAST, IS CHARGE

Moscow, Aug. 26.—"Japan is the Prussia of the Far East," M. Marlevski, Soviet Russian representative at the recent Dairen negotiations, said upon his return to Moscow.

Negotiations at Dairen were broken off by Japan's attempt to make a colony out of the Far Eastern Republic and demanding the right to send military missions everywhere and refusing the Far Eastern Republic the right to its own fleet or to admit Russian warships into the harbor at Vladivostok," Marlevski said.

The Russian delegate charged that Japan has assisted the Chinese civil war makers and that three Japanese divisions are ready to go into Manchuria when necessary.

MORE COPIES OF POPULAR FILM

To meet the demand for the use of the motion-picture film "Great Dairy Sires and Their Daughters," the United States Department of Agriculture is making six additional copies, increasing the supply from 12 to 18. With the additional number it is believed that service to persons desiring this educational film will be greatly improved.

The picture is a one-reel production showing outstanding sires, cows, and progeny of the leading dairy breeds, Ayrshire, Guernsey, Holstein, Friesian, Jersey and Brown Swiss. Numerous herd scenes are included and the improvement of dairy live stock by means of the "Better Sires—Better Stock" movement is explained.

IS YOUR ATTIRE OF PROPER STYLE

Suitable Costumes to be Chosen by Clubwomen at Kentucky
State Fair.

By Mabel Jean Molton.
Louisville, Ky., Just where the graceful hip sash the outstanding feature of autumn modes in afternoon and evening wear should end, and the length of the skirt of a smart tailored suit for morning wear, are some of the problems to be solved by Mrs. G. A. Goodell, President of the Parent-Teacher League of Louisville, and her committee on costumes, for Women's Club Day, September 12, at the Kentucky State Fair, September 11 to 16.

Merchants of Louisville will submit models to these women, who in turn will approve those most representative of good taste as understood by them. What to wear at club meetings, lectures, musicals, and at the theater will be featured in exhibition cases throughout the entire week of the Fair.

And so we women, to be correctly attired beyond a question of doubt, should gaze upon the official gowns and instruct the home dress maker to follow suggestions acquired from the gazing.

Mothers of the State will no longer hear the brunt of the blame for impossible flapper costumes. For it is safe to predict that the skirts and draperies of the chosen gowns will be neither too long, or in any way ridiculously fashionable.

From the young women comes the question—will these thoughtful women approve ear rings?

Shall young matrons be guilty of bad taste if hoops and pendants of jade sway from their ears? We must wait until the Fair to learn the answer. In the meantime the young wives may silently hope that the beauty of the official wax figure gowned in a ravishing evening gown, will be increased with pearls, jade or coral ear decorations.

The clubwomen have consented to make selections of suitable costumes, because they realize the importance of good taste in dressing.

The flapper with her short hair and shorter skirts must go, so fashion decrees. "But the black gowned 'vamp' with trailing draperies must not take her place.

Mrs. Goodell has named the following women as members of her committee: Mrs. William S. Sheridan, representing the Outdoor Art League; Mrs. Bernard Seligman of the Jewish Women's Federation; and Mrs. A. E. Broderick, from the Business and Professional Women's Club. The fifth member is to be appointed and will be a representative of the Woman's Club.

Judging from the interest in the Costume Committee, and its duties, it is quite safe to say that every woman will visit the magnetic spot where these officially chosen gowns will be shown.

Mrs. George H. Newman is General Chairman of Women's Club Day Tuesday, September 12th, as well as for the entire week.

CHEMICALS FROM CORN COBS

By developing new methods of extracting furfural from corn cobs, chemists of the United States Department of Agriculture have greatly reduced the cost of making this chemical, which is used in the manufacture of soluble and insoluble resins for stains, varnishes, insulating material, printing plates, and many other articles. Furfural has been made commercially from oat hulls and has been selling for about 50 cents a pound, but when made from cobs it is estimated that it can be manufactured at a cost of about ten cents a pound. Cobs give the greatest yield of furfural of any of the common agricultural materials that contain it.

CORN NEARING BEST STAGE FOR SELECTING SEED EARS

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 26.—Early corn in Kentucky is nearly matured at the present time and in another month will be ripe enough for farmers to select their supply of seed corn for next year, according to R. E. Stephenson, soils and crops specialist at the College of Agriculture. Practically all experiment stations in corn growing states as well as scores of farmers in every state have shown by actual tests that field-selected corn given proper care after gathering produces highly profitable increases in yield over ordinary crib-selected seed. Ears gathered early from healthy, vigorous stalks and stored so that they will dry quickly give seed that germinates promptly and produces strong, healthy plants. It was pointed out.

In the interest of efficient work the county extension agent in Catron county, N. Mex., equipped his automobile with low-gear shifts to overcome a rise of 2,000 feet in 2 miles on one of the two main roads across the county and other obstacles to travel, according to a report to the United States Department of Agriculture. Until he did this he could only reach certain sections of the county by horseback or by detouring from 100 to 150 miles. The county seat of Catron County is 107 miles from the railroad, which gives some idea of the difficulties of carrying on efficient extension work in this region.

Swellings of the flesh caused by inflammation, cold, fractures of the bone, toothache, neuritis or rheumatism can be relieved by applying Ballard's Snow Liniment. It should be well rubbed in over the part affected. Its great healing and penetrating power eases the pain, reduces swelling and restores natural conditions. Price 30c, 60c and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Company.

A good home-made self-feeder for poultry reported to the United States Department of Agriculture by the county extension agent of Knox County, Ind., is one made of an old mower wheel, a barrel with both ends knocked out, an old washtub, and a small platform of rough boards. The wheel is first laid on the platform. The barrel is then placed on the wheel, filled with dry mash, and the tub turned over the top of it for a cover. A barrel should be used which leaves just enough space between its edge and the rim of the mower wheel to allow room to feed. This prevents the feed from being scratched outside the rim.

Surgeons agree that in cases of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds the first treatment is most important. When an efficient antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast, Borozone is the ideal antiseptic and healing agent. Buy it now and be ready for an emergency. Price 30c, 60c and $1.20. Sold by the Ohio County Drug Co.

ROOSTER INTRUDES ON GRANT DAY CEREMONY

The geese whose cackling saved Rome, will please move over and make room in the zoological hall of fame for a rooster which has established a claim to historical recognition by sharing a program with the President of the United States—and breaking the long distance crowing record, into the bargain.

Shortly before the exercises in commemoration of the anniversary of the birth of Ulysses S. Grant were begun at Point Pleasant, Ohio, on April 27, the chanticleer in question, no doubt unable to master the feeling of local pride which the other four score inhabitants of the little village were more successful in concealing, mounted to the rostrum and crowed lustily.

The feathered orator's tribute to his honored fellow townsman was heard distinctly in Cincinnati, thirty miles away. It happened that the bird had selected for his unsolicited addition to the program a point directly in front of the transmitter connected by telephone wires with the Bell loud speaking apparatus which enabled a crowd of 20,000 people gathered in Lytle Park to hear the entire program at Point Pleasant.

If your child is pale and sickly, picks at the nose, starts in the sleep and grinds the teeth while sleeping, it is a sure sign of worms. A remedy for these parasites will be found in White's Cream Vermifuge. It not only clears out the worms, but it restores health and cheerfulness. Price 35c per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Company.

LADY WAS IN A BAD FIX FROM NERVOUS INDIGESTION

Biloxi, Miss.—"I had, for a year or more, nervous indigestion, or some form of stomach trouble," says Mrs. Alonzo Ford, 1117 Clay Street, this city. "The water I drank at that time seemed to constipate me. I would suffer until I got so nervous I wanted to get down on the floor and roll. I felt like I could tear my clothes.

"Every night, and night after night, I had to take something for a laxative, and it had to be kept up nightly. My side would pain. I looked awful. My skin was sallow and seemed spotted. I would look at my hands and arms, and the flesh looked lifeless.

"I happened to get a Birthday Almanac, so I told my husband I would try the Black-Draught, which I did. I took a few big doses. I felt much better. My liver acted well. I made a good, warm tea and drank it that way. Soon I found that nervous, tight feeling was going, as was the pain in my side. I found I did not have to take it every night. Soon, after a few weeks, I could leave it off for a week or so, and I did not suffer with constipation. . . I gained flesh. I have a good color, and believe it was a stubborn liver, and that Black-Draught did the work.

"I went to my mother's (Mrs. Deeters) one day, and she wasn't well at all. . . I told her we'd try Black-Draught. We did, and now she keeps it to take after eating. It certainly helped her, and we neither will be without it in our homes. It is so simple, and the dose can be regulated as the case may be. We use small doses after meals for indigestion, and larger doses for headache or bad liver."

Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine is for sale everywhere.

NEW ORLEANS TO CARE FOR LEGION VISITORS

New Orleans, Aug.—Ships, Pullman cars, tents, and Army supply base building, private homes and hotels will house the thousands of delegates and visitors expected at the American Legion national convention in New Orleans, October 16-20.

A preliminary canvass by the convention hotels and housing committee has demonstrated the fact that New Orleans will be able to house 150,000 guests.

Passenger liners will be docked and former "gobs" and marines will be allotted first cabin accommodations on them.

A Pullman city of hundreds of cars, to be established in three railroad yards, will care for 14,000 visitors, the convention committee has announced. The "hotels on wheels" will be provided with all the conveniences of a modern hostelry. Dining car service will be maintained, shower bath will be erected and all equipment will be electrically lighted while parked.

The railroads have established a charge of $12 for parking in addition to the $54 for daily Pullman car rental. The average cost to this Pullman guest will be about $2 a day.

If the size of the convention crowd warrants it, tents will be erected on the parkways of some of the more centrally located boulevards. A model barracks, patterned after those of cantonment days, will be established in the Army Supply Base, a fifteen million dollar structure on the river front. Private homes will be thrown open to the veteran who brings his wife to the convention.

New Orleans hotel men have agreed upon a uniform rate schedule of $1.50 a day without bath and $2.50 with bath. Charges in the tent cities and improvised hotels will be from fifty to seventy-five cents a day and the cost in private homes will compare favorably with the hotel rates.

All reservations for rooms during the five days of the convention must be made thru the Legion department adjutant of the state from which the visitor comes.

When you have an aching, stretchy feeling and you are dull, tired and discouraged it is a sign of approaching malaria or chills. You should act quickly to ward off an attack. Herbine offers you the help you need. It destroys the malarial germ, drives out all impurities and makes you feel bright, vigorous and cheerful. Price 60c. Sold by Ohio County Drug Company.

CROP AND WEATHER REPORT FOR WEEK

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 30, 1922. High temperature during the first half of the week gave way to quite cool weather toward its close. Heavy rains in most of the eastern and south-central counties relieved the drought and started late crops to growing. The rains were light in the central blue grass region and in most of the central and western counties, where much more moisture is needed to fully break the drought, replenish stock water, and give pastures a good start. They came too late for early crops; which have practically matured, with yields much reduced in that portion of the State—approximately half its area that was most afflicted by drought. Considerable damage was caused by local storms on the 25th. Early corn is beginning to dry. This crop ranges in condition from poor on hill land in the drought-stricken districts to very good on lowlands in the sections where rainfall was sufficient. It is evident that early tobacco is considerably damaged in the driest districts, because of "firing" and failure to spread. Cutting of tobacco in this condition proceeded as rapidly as possible, but was delayed to some extent by showers. The rains caused decided improvement in late corn and tobacco, which are in fairly good condition. The improvement is most marked in the eastern half of the State; but growth has been renewed generally. More rain is needed at once by these crops in the western counties, and would be beneficial everywhere. Late potatoes and cowpeas are poor in the driest half of the State and generally fair in the other half. They are improving since the rains. Pastures have revived considerably, but must have more rain if growth of grass is to continue. The soil is still too dry for fall plowing, which made little progress. It is now apparent that tomatoes were considerably damaged by blistering during the hot spell just ended.

DITCH LETTING

E. P. Barnard, et al., vs. Advertisement Letting of Contract.

Petition for Public Ditch.

The undersigned Board of Drainage Commissioners of Ohio County, Kentucky, will, on Monday the 4th day of September, 1922, at one o'clock p. m., at the Court House in Hartford, Kentucky, let to the lowest and best bidder, at public outcry, the contract for the construction of a public ditch or drain in said county known as the E. P. Barnard et al., ditch, and said ditch is bounded as follows:

Beginning at Station O-O in the center of Horton Fork of Muddy Creek and on the lands of T. C. Martin, thence across his land N. 57 40 W. 52 feet to the line between said Martin and N. A. Mallin; thence across the lands of said Mallin, same course, 669.5 feet to station 7-21.5; thence across the lands of said Mallin N. 56 W. 213 feet to the line between said Mallin and Cecil Barnard, 400 feet from their corner on said creek; thence the same course, across the lands of said Barnard 822.5 feet to the east side of the Beaver Dam and Horton road; thence the same course, across said road 35 feet to station 18-92 on the west side of said road and corner between Edgar Barnard and Mrs. Golda Veller; thence along the line between said Barnard and Veller, the same course, 819.5 feet to station 23-11.5 on their line; thence still along their line and equally on the lands of each N. 55 20 W. 668.5 feet to the corner between said Barnard and Energy Moore in Mrs. Veller's line; thence the same course along the line between said Moore and said Veller 720 feet to the corner between said Veller and John China in the line of said Moore; thence the same course 13 feet to station 37-13 in a plough and in the line between said China and said Moore; thence N. 53 W. 562 feet along the line between said Moore and said China to station 42-75 in the center of Muddy Creek, the terminus of said proposed ditch and at the beginning of a "cut-off" made by parties some years ago.

The total excavation shown by the engineer's report is 16,948.52 cubic yards, less 4,565.34 cubic yards that will be saved by the use of the ditch that has heretofore been partially constructed, and the total estimated cost of the construction of said ditch is $2,542.27. Said construction work is to be done according to the plans and specifications prepared by the engineer in charge, which have been approved by the judgment of the Ohio County Court in the above styled case and now on file in the clerk's office of the County Court, and said construction is to be under the general supervision of the engineer, John B. Wilson, heretofore selected by the Board of Drainage Commissioners.

The construction of said ditch must be completed on or before the 1st day of December 1922. Bond with approved security will be required as soon as bid is accepted.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to let the contract for said work in sections or as a whole as they may see fit.

This August 24th, 1922. BOARD OF DRAINAGE COMMISSIONERS OF OHIO COUNTY, KY. By S. T. Barnett, President. Attested: McDowell A. Fogle, Secretary.

FALL GINGHAM WEEK

AUG 28th to SEPT 2nd

The new designs for Fall and Winter have just been received. The glory of autumn, the scarlet which cheers on wintry days, the rich dark tones so practical for school, are all woven into the fascinating selections we can offer you.

REMEMBER—Women wear Gingham for house dresses all the year, Children wear Gingham for school and indoor play all winter long.

A kitchen with checked curtains and table cloth of Gingham looks cozy and clean. Gingham napkins dress up the table for luncheon and breakfast.

Nurseries and children's rooms gaily outfitted with Ginghams dispense with gloom any day and every day.

A colored apron is useful, but it needn't be homely. Gingham is the answer.

Gingham Underwear for the schoolgirl satisfies her love of color, her desire for something different—and wears well.
